

Exercise and interaction

Have you ever wondered why German sportsmen and women are often so successful at international events? This is partly due to the many sports clubs that offer a comprehensive range of activities at affordable prices.

Being a member of a sports club in Germany is a good way to meet people from all walks of life in a relaxed environment. Some of the nicest times you spend as a member of a sports club are in the pub with your team mates after a good training session.